

02 FEBRUARY

Make STEM an
Every Day Focus
with

	SUN	MON	TUES	WED	THURS	FRI	SAT
W01						Water can boil and freeze at the same time.	Certain species of sharks lay eggs, and those species lays the largest eggs in the world.
W02	Only humans sleep on their backs.	An ostrich's eye is bigger than its brain.	Cats always land on their feet, thanks to physics.	Winslow, Arizona, is the place where the largest meteorite crater of the world is located.	Four is the only number that has the same number of letters as its meaning.	Most poisonous creatures found on earth are the frogs. These are the poison arrow frogs from Central and South America.	Google, Facebook, Twitter, and Amazon are all powered by Linux.
W03	Leo Fender, who manufactured the best electric guitars, didn't know how to play the guitar.	Amazon.com was previously known as cadabra.com.	Oncology focuses on cancer, and oncologists are the doctors that work to beat cancer.	Email has been around longer than the World Wide Web.	The human brain is 80% water.	A robotic fish created by researchers at NYU-Poly was left to interact with normal fish. It was accepted by them and became a leader.	Deniz Karasahin designed a 3D-printed cast that uses ultrasound to heal bones faster.
W04	There are over 35 billion Google search every month.	Jaw muscles are the most powerful among all the muscles in human body. These muscles can produce a force of 200 pounds.	51% of internet traffic is "non-human". 31% is made up from hacking programs, spammers and malicious phishing.	Domain name registrations were free until 1995.	The first computer mouse was made of wood.	The CAPTCHA acronym stands for "Completely Automated Public Turing test to tell Computers and Humans Apart".	The first cell phone was made by Martin Cooper at Motorola and weighed 2.5 lbs.
W05	The world's longest bridge is the Danyang-Kunshan Grand Bridge in China, part of the Beijing-Shanghai High-Speed Railway.	TIME Magazine named the computer the "Man of the Year" in 1982.	There is a "Bio-Bus" in the U.K. that is powered by human poop.	The technology of a Game Boy exceeds all the computing power that was used to put the first man on the moon.	Alexandre-Gustave Eiffel designed the framework for the Statue of Liberty even though he is most well known for the Eiffel Tower.		